Purchase Cards To Go On Sale Here Tomorrow

Savings To Be Realized Over Entire Country As Well As In Boston Area

Through National Student Association channels, Tech students will have the opportunity to participate in the Purchase Card Plan beginning tomorrow. Robert Arbuckle, '52, has announced that sale of purchase cards at one dollar per will commence tomorrow morning in Building 10 at 10:00 a.m.

Working since last November, NSA students in the Boston area now have signed contracts with 24 stores in this area at which holders of the purchase cards may obtain reductions of from ten to twenty per cent. Among the list given below are sporting goods stores, clothing stores, restaurants, and shoe stores, and additional stores will be added in the future.

National Arrangement

Not only in the Boston area, but all over the United States, where stores are under contract with the Purchase Card System, holders of PCS cards may utilize the savings of the plan. Cards purchased now are good until next November.

Students at the University of Buffalo successfully tried the plan out last year. Therefore at the national NSA Congress last summer, the plan was adopted as a future project for all NSA area committees.

A list of the stores that are now under contract and their discounts follows: Ada Bullock's Restaurant (15%); J. August, Men's Clothes (10%); Boylston Camera Exchange (20%); Brine's Sportswear (10-25%); W. H. Brine Co. Sportswear (10-25%); Economy Watch Repair (15%); Eddy's Cleaners and Tailors (15%); Joe Noster's Shoes (10%); General Appliance Inc. (10-20%); Green's Luggage Shop (20%); Johnson's Luggage Shop (20%); Kupermettic Florist (20%); Samuel Marcus, Stationer (20%); Paul's Shoes (10%); Penn, The Florist (10%); C. C. Peters Inc., Electrical Appliances (20%); Richard Clothes Inc. Men's (10%).

Tech Show Tickets Are Still Being Sold For Next Weekend

Broadcast Music Inc. Will Publish Music By William E. Katz, G

The two act musical comedy "O Say Can You Si" is breaking precedent with the publication of many of the numbers by Broadcast Music Inc. of New York City. Bill Katz, who wrote the tunes for Frere Jacques and will direct the Tech-tonians during the performances, is the author of the songs. Many seats are still available for both Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19.

According to James Berman, '49, General Manager, "rehearsals are rapidly reaching their final stages of perfection. Specialty acts that were hitherto merely detached parts with little apparent significance are now being integrated into the rehearsals."

Sunday the cast enacted the entire show non-stop, and tonight several recordings of the top songs will be cut. Thursday, the orchestra, which has been practicing separately, will combine with the cast to run through a complete performance.

Business manager Richard Glenn has announced that tickets for Saturday are beginning to dwindle, due to the early call for seats by the dormitory and fraternity groups. Early purchase of tickets will assure you of the best selection of seats.

Walker Memorial Comm. Needs Six New Freshmen

Second-term freshmen seeking membership in the Walker Memorial Committee are requested to meet with the Committee on Friday, March 11, at 5:00 in Litchfield Lounge. The Committee will select six new sophomore members for next term on the basis of a personal interview, a short paper on a topic pertinent to student activities, and cooperation in work-

More '50 Mugs Being Sold Wed.

Over 500 Attend Lift; Plan Another In '50

Due to the demand for the novel beer mugs used at last week's Junior Mug Lift, the committee has decided to take orders for additional mugs from any Junior desiring one. Orders may be placed this Wednesday or Thursday from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. The mugs will sell for fifty-five cents apiece.

Over five hundred men attended the beer party itself last Wednesday. An abundance of beer and music kept the participants in good spirits although some lack of food was reported.

Only dark spot of the picture was apparently the movies for which the committee wishes to apologize to all. The Tech-tonians' Jazz Band and the German March Band filled the entertainment gap, however.

The Committee wishes to thank everyone connected in any way with the Mug-Lift and in particular the bartenders and marshals from Alpha Phi Omega and Jim Baker, the organizer behind the entire plan. They consider the affair successful enough to warrant the formulation of tentative plans for a Senior Mug-Lift.

Spring Soiree Will Be Held Saturday

Spring Soiree, a semi formal affair featuring Bartholomew's Orchestra from the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Bradford and "Hollywood" entertainers will be held in Morss Hall at 8 p.m. on Saturday. Tickets, at $2.40 per couple, are on sale to all classes in Building 10, but sales are limited to 450 tickets.

Plans for the affair originated last November, and since then it has been decided to hold the dance as semi-formal with formal optional. Taj Hanna is publicity chairman for the dance.

The receiving line will be headed by Mr. and Mrs. Karl T. Compton as possibly their last social function at the Institute this year. Dean and Mrs. Everett M. Baker, Dean and Mrs. Thomas Pitre, (and the presidents of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes) have been invited as guests of the freshman class.

Groups To Vie For "Egbert" In Tech Sing This Friday

This year's "All Tech Sing and Dance," sponsored by the Baton Society, will be held next Friday night, March 11, at 8:00 p.m., in Morss Hall. Fifteen groups will contend for several prizes, among them Egbert, which in the past has taken the form of a canary, a big goose, and a rag doll.

Beginning this year a new point system of judging has been inaugurated for the main awards. A maximum of seventy points will be given for singing quality and thirty points will be the maximum for quality of presentation and originality.

The judges will be Dean of Students Everett M. Baker, Professor Avery A. Ashdown, Professor Donald S. Tucker, Professor Gregory Tucker, and Professor F. Alexander Magoun. Richard E. Dobroth, '50, is chairman and William D. Green, G, will be master of ceremonies.

After the sing there will be dancing till 1:00 a.m. with music provided by the Tech-tonians. The tickets will be 60 cents per person for the Sing and another 60 cents for the Dance.

Contesting are: Theta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Nu, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Upsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa, Sigma Chi, Pi Lambda Phi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Chi Phi, the combined Student Houses, the Sadist-fires, Technipoop and the Techtet.

Hockey Team To Meet Boston U. In New England Playoffs Tonight

Tonight the Engineer hockey squad takes the ice at 7:00 P.M. to open the New England playoffs against Boston University. The four teams in the playoffs will be competing for the top rating and the trophy which is the award given each year to the winner of these games.

New Lea-Fuller-Grady Line

The line-up for tonight's game will be entirely new to hockey fans, in that Jim Fuller will be starting at center, with Lea and Grady riding his wings. This is the first time that "Iron Man" Fuller will get into the play-making division, and it should be very interesting to watch that first line feel their oats against the Terriers.

All students, except those listed below, may file special applications for Convocation and Inauguration tickets at the Information Office, Room 7-111, beginning Wednesday, March 9, at 11 A.M., it was announced by the Dean's Office.

Students to whom this method of application does not apply are: (1) Graduate students who have staff appointments; (2) Graduate students who are M.I.T. alumni; (3) Class officers; (4) Institute Committee members; (5) Students registered with Mr. Kirchner's Committee as ushers, guides, etc. These categories are cared for in other ways.

Student tickets will not be available before March 25, at a place to be designated later. Until then, the committee cannot determine how many students will be able to get one ticket, or how many will be able to get more than one ticket. Every attempt will be made to have enough tickets for the wives of married students, but it is not known yet whether this will be possible. Further details will be announced in The Tech.

SUMMER TRIPS

All students and faculty members interested in work, study, or travel abroad this summer are requested to come to Room 10-275 at 5:00 o'clock p.m.

Donald J. Eberly, NSA Chairman, is to outline the summer program of travel abroad and will distribute application blanks since the deadline for many tours is March 15.

Skeptics To Meet Noted Theologian

A new series of religious meetings will be instituted by the TCA this Thursday at 5:00 p.m. in Tyler Lounge. Entitled "Skeptics Seminars," the gatherings will consist of informal discussions of skepticism in religion.

Presiding at the first two of the three scheduled meetings will be the Reverend Allison Bryan, a former missionary and a Marine Chaplain in World War I. Rev. Bryan has also been active at the United Ministry at Harvard where he has worked with many self-avowed skeptics.

Succeeding seminars will be held on the subsequent Thursdays. The TCA invites anyone not sold on religion to come and discuss frankly their own objections.

Free Kits To Be Given To New Members Of Model Railroad Club

The Tech Model Railroad Club, in an attempt to expand has been sponsoring a membership drive that included an exhibit in Building 10. The club will run the exhibit until Wednesday. According to Walter March, '50, president of the club, there are now about 35 members.

The club is interested in getting new members whether or not they have had any experience in Model Railroad. As an enticement, free "box car" kits are being given to those who join immediately. Potential members may get information at the exhibit, or after Wednesday, in Room 20-E-216 on Tuesdays at 5:15 p.m. This is the time of the weekly business meeting. Dues in the club are $2.00 per term.

The exhibit is being run by John F. Moore, '49, who founded the club three years ago. Complete electrification of the layout in Building 20 is not completely finished and will furnish work for prospective members.

Boston Baedeker

Post Mortem

Last Thursday evening the Humanities Department in cooperation with the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation presented the second concert of its series, featuring the Berkshire Woodwind Ensemble. It was an interesting concert and the large audience, which included Mrs. Elizabeth Coolidge, showed remarkable tolerance to music which was not only new to most, but also difficult to comprehend even to those who are familiar with woodwind literature.

The concert opened with Beethoven's Quintet Opus 71. Despite its late Opus number, it was a weak, shallow and immature work; this may be explained by the fact that Beethoven in his later years sometimes published his very early works as a means to increase his income. The Beethoven was followed by a Milhaud suite; this, a highly stylized work, was distinguished by its excellent usage of the timbres of the woodwinds. The first half of the concert ended with the Hindemith Quintet, which was unquestionably the best piece of the evening.

The concert resumed with the first Boston performance of Irving Fine's Partita. Today many of our composers have adopted antique forms and have written pieces of music in these forms such as the partita, using the complex modern musical vocabulary. The effect of the majority of these compositions is that the artist is trying to fit his thoughts into too tight and restrained a form. Mr. Fine's Partita, though skillful in its instrumentation, suffered from this defect. Only in the closing Coda was there any feeling of ease and melodic freedom. The concert ended with a Mozart Cassazione, which was beautifully played, especially by the horn.

Exhibition

Until March 15, Building 7 will be host to an exhibition of American photographers. It is a good show and well worth your while.

Of the photographers represented, two seemed the most successful to me. In the works of Ansel Adams and Edward Weston I can see a purpose beyond that of snapping a shutter. Their works are documentary in character; each picture has a defined goal which is achieved through the artistic and technical senses of the photographer. It is pictures such as Adams' "Death Valley" or Weston's "E.W. 1939" that will establish photography as an art.

Cagers Trounced By Connecticut As Madden Plays His Final Game

Unable to cope with the speed and class of the Connecticut invaders, the Engineer five absorbed a one-sided lacing, 91-52, last Saturday night at Walker Gym. The contest marked the season's finale and left the Beavers with an unimpressive record of 3 and 14.

Fencers Beat BU 2nd Time, 17-10

Finishing their season with a highly successful 5-1 record, the Tech fencers defeated BU, 17-10 last Saturday afternoon at Walker Gym. It was the second time this year that the Engineers had beaten the Terriers.

Led by Tony Mirti, who swept his three matches, the foilsmen racked up a 7-2 advantage for Tech. The sabermen, with Pete Ney winning 3 bouts, gained a 6-3 verdict over their Terrier rivals, while the epee-men lost by a narrow 5-4 margin.

SUMMARY

Folia—Mirti (MIT) defeated Daniels, 5-3; Chiancola, 5-1; and Martinian, 5-0; Abbate (MIT) defeated Daniels, 5-4 and Chiancola, 5-1; and lost to Sittler, 5-2; Kollogg (MIT) lost to Daniels, 5-1; and defeated Chiancola, 5-1, and Martinian, 5-2.
Saber—Schlick (MIT) defeated Selib, 5-1, and lost to Hollien, 5-3 and Dorman, 5-2; Ney (MIT) defeated Selib, 5-1, Hollien, 5-1, and Fairbairn, 5-2; Lowry (MIT) defeated McKay, 5-2; Hollien, 5-2, and lost to Dorman, 5-0.
Epee—Kurz (MIT) defeated Lantry, 3-1, and lost to Cruikshank, 3-1, and Carey, 3-1; Barnett (MIT) defeated Carey, 3-0, and lost to Cruikshank, 3-0, and Lantry, 3-1; Zesiger, (MIT) defeated Cruikshank, 3-1, and Carey 3-0, and lost to Lantry, 3-1.

From the opening gun it was evident that Connecticut's 18 and 6 record was not gained against push-overs, as the Huskies' razzle-dazzle fast break had the Engineers guessing time and time again. For a while, however, the locals managed to stay in the game, and with Lou Morton and Jim Madden fighting hard, remained within five points of the invaders through the opening 12 minutes.

Then big Pete Lind and Stan Sorota connected repeatedly for the visitors to give the UConns a 36-21 advantage. Morton's two beautiful tap-ins cuts the lead to ten points as the half closed on a weary Tech five.

UConns Run Away

John MacMillan's lay-up was the only field goal the Beavers could sink in the first eight minutes of the second stanza. During this period the Huskies assumed mastery over everything, including Tech's ragged passing, as they ran the Kassig's Two Baskets Win Game In Last Min.

Finishing off their season in fine style, Warren Berg's freshman basketballers handed a strong Connecticut five its second loss in twenty starts last Saturday evening at Walker Gym. The score was 69-67, giving the Engineers a final record of eleven victories and but four losses.

Jules Kassig was the man of the hour against Connecticut; Kassig held the Beaver team together during the second half, and scored ten of the Engineers' last twelve points, including the tying and winning baskets in the final 90 seconds of play. Herb Glantz also played a good floor game and had his one-handers working to the tune of 17 points, and the team as a whole looked good.

The Beavers built up a 19-9 lead

After defeating Connecticut's swimmers Friday night at the Alumni Pool by a 50-25 margin, the Tech mermen journeyed to Amherst Saturday night and outswam the University of Massachusetts to the tune of 46-29.

Varsity Wrestlers Lose To C.G., 20-8 Frosh Also Beaten

Saturday at New London, Tech's varsity and freshman wrestling squads bowed before strong Coast Guard teams by scores of 20-8, and 18-12, respectively. Tech won two varsity matches as Captain Dick Lemmerman won by decision and Lars Soderberg pinned his opponent.

The frosh squad won four of its matches while losing the same number. However, three of its losses were by pins while all four wins were by decisions. Next weekend both squads will compete in the New England Intercollegiate at Springfield.

The two victories boosted Tech's season record to a very respectable eight wins against four losses as the 1948-49 swimming season came to a successful close. Coach Smith's charges, after a mediocre start, were victorious in five of their last six encounters, losing only by one point to Tufts.

Lead All the Way

In each meet over the weekend the Engineers took the first two events and were never headed. Against the UConns, Tech won six of the nine events and took seconds in the other three. Frank Conlin, Lou Lehmann, Bob Pelletier, Carl Mellin, and the two relay teams captured first-place honors for Tech.

Conlin was a double winner in the Massachusetts meet, taking firsts in both the 220-yard and 440-yard freestyles. Other winners for Tech were Stan Jones, Lenwood Schwartzman, and the 300-yd. medley relay team.

Intercollegiate Coming Up

Before putting their suits away for the year, the Tech natators will compete in the New England and Eastern Intercollegiate meets to be held over the next two weekends.

Riflemen Top Dartmouth

Last Saturday the Tech rifle team defeated Dartmouth at the latter's Hanover range. At no time during the match did the defending New England league champions threaten the Tech team. Herb Voelcker and John Corwin gave the Engineers an early lead when they fired scores of 281 and 277. The final score was Tech 1363, Dartmouth 1331.

Next Saturday the riflemen travel to New Brunswick, Maine, where they will fire against Bowdoin.

Human Relations Talks To Spotlight Meeting

The National Student Association is sponsoring a Human Relations Institute Conference on the week-end of March 12-13 at Boston University. All of the New England colleges have been invited, although it is expected that the majority of delegates will be from Greater Boston colleges.

Furtherance of discussion and knowledge of higher education in the United States is the purpose of this conference. Basis for the discussion will be the report of the President's Commission on Higher Education, especially the first two chapters, which establish the goals of higher education and the barriers to the attainment of these goals.

This part of the report will be discussed in four speeches: Support (or Opposition) to the report, General Education, Scholastic Principles of Education, and Classical or Normal Education. Dean Butler of Boston University will discuss General Education, and Bishop Wright will talk on Scholastic Principles.

Following the speeches the Conference will break up into panels of about twenty-five which will have a faculty member to settle or define points that come up and guide the discussion of the panel. Each panel will deal with only one of the four phases of the goals.

Dr. Harold Taylor of Sarah Lawrence will give the key-note address. Presidents Marsh and Conant are also expected to address the convention. Vice-President Barkley has been invited.

There will also be three speeches which deal with domain barriers, which are, Economic and Geographic, Racial and Religious, and Legislative. Thomas Eliot will deal with legislative barriers; Mrs. Goodman of Wellesley will treat the religious and racial barriers.

midway in the first half and seemed to have the game well in hand. However, with big Vin Yokabaskas doing the brunt of the scoring the Huskies rallied and managed to tie the score at 31-31 by halftime.

The second half seemed to be a repetition of the first, as again the Engineers built up a lead, and again the Uconns came back to tie it up. A nice layup by Al Magyar put the Huskies ahead, 67-65, with a minute and a half to go, but then Kassig came through and a 30-second freeze insured the Beaver victory.

When Jim Madden left the game, ejected on personal fouls, he received a tremendous ovation from the crowd. It was Jim's last game in a brilliant Technology basketball career, and the fans noisily showed their appreciation of his splendid efforts for the past few seasons. Bruce Campbell, another senior, also played his final game for the Beavers.

How to tune a piano!

The piano is out of tune. So we'll chop it up. Then we'll get a tin horn instead.

Sure, these men are crazy.

But they're using the same kind of thinking a lot of people have been using on the American economic system lately.

Our American way isn't perfect. We still have our ups and downs of prices and jobs. We'll have to change that. But even so, our system works a lot better than the second-rate substitutes being peddled by some countries we could mention.

It works better because of a few simple things. We are more inventive, and we know how to use machine power to produce more goods at lower cost. We have more skilled workers than any other country. We believe in collective bargaining and enjoy its benefits. And we Americans save—and our savings go into new tools, new plants, new and better machines.

Because of this, we produce more every working hour... and can buy more goods with an hour's work than any other people in the world.

We can make the system work even better, too: by all of us working together to turn out more for every hour we work—through better machines and methods, more power, greater skills, and by sharing the benefits through higher wages, lower prices, shorter hours.

It's a good system. It can be made better. And even now it beats anything that any other country in the world has to offer.

So—let's tune it up, not chop it down.

Armory Saloon Motif To Follow Formal At Copley Plaza Hotel

Plans for the Sophomore Prom are well under way, according to the Prom Chairman, Gerald Burns. The prom will be a two night affair and is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7. Tickets for the two nights will cost $8.00. Options for the tickets will go on sale Tuesday, March 22, for $3.00.

On Friday night the formal will be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel from 9:00 until 1:00 with Skitch Henderson's band supplying the music. Along with his piano and orchestra, Skitch will present vocalists Nancy Reed and Andy Roberts. A native of England, Skitch attained American acclaim through Hollywood and Bing Crosby's radio program.

The second part of the weekend will be on Saturday night at the Armory. A bar and a complete gambling room with expert poker sharks, balanced roulette wheels, and script money will provide the setting of a mid-Nineteenth Century Wild West saloon. The Technicians will provide music for the occasion.

Publicity will start Monday, March 21. Ralph Romano, Chairman of the Publicity Committee, announced that the prom publicity would be entered in the publicity contest being sponsored by the Walker Memorial Committee.

Eleanor Semple and Byron Burch are in charge of decorations for the first and second nights, respectively. Props and refreshments will be taken care of by Priscilla Maurer. The "big boss" in the second night gambling room will be William Schenkel. Ticket sales will be handled by Herbert Woodson.

First Council Meeting To Be At Northeastern

About sixty-five regular members and ten alumni members of Tau Beta Pi chapters at Tufts, Northeastern, WPI, and Technology will be initiated Saturday, April 9, at Northeastern University's Center Building. This is the first event sponsored by the Massachusetts Coordinating Council of Tau Beta Pi. The object of this organization is to unite the activities of the various groups of Tau Beta Pi men located in the state.

Consisting of representatives from the four colleges, the Council will be formally installed at the Saturday meeting. Robert S. Griggs, '49, president of the Technology chapter, is chairman of the Council.

The event will take the place of the annual Round-Up of Tau Betas and will feature Dr. Harvey M. Merker of Parke-Davis Company who will speak on "An Engineer in Medicine." Other guests of honor include Robert H. Nagel, national secretary, N. E. Van Valkenburg, chapter coordinator, and Frederick M. Kempton, editor of the Tau Beta Pi Council Bulletin.

Plans at present are being made to accommodate an expected five hundred persons in view of the fact that all members of the Association are being encouraged to bring guests.

Trek from Ye Olde Institution Ends in Engineered Revolution

Seniors Launch 25-Year Plan

Insurance Dividends Finance Future Gift

Last January the Class of 1949 started an unusual plan to finance its 25-year gift to the Institute. The plan works as follows: Each individual takes out an ordinary life insurance policy of one thousand dollars and names anyone he wishes as beneficiary. However the annual dividend would be payable to the Class of 1949 25-year Gift Fund, to be accumulated at interest until the 25th reunion. At this time the class will present the dividends to the Institute in whatever form it chooses. In case of the death of the individual, $1,000 would be payable to his beneficiary.

The campaign is being started this year since past plans have been more successful if launched while the men are still at Tech. Another point: premiums cost less ($19.00 per annum) for a 22-year-old student than they would for an older man.

The class committee is working in close coordination with E. Lester Goodrich, who handles many of the Institute's Insurance Plans. The headquarters of the campaign is Room 2-125. The office will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and will have all the information concerning the plan. Letters are being sent out to each member of the class, and all are invited to drop in at the office.

RECORDINGS TO BE MADE

The Musical Clubs announce that there is a possibility of making records of the Monsanto sponsored Glee Club broadcast, either the entire program or just the more popular parts. To do so, however, the record company must have a guarantee of a certain number of records. Anyone interested in purchasing records of the broadcast is invited to come to the Musical Clubs office, Walker 301, to find out more about them.

Music by the efforts of tune-smiths William E. Katz G, Michael M. Koerner '49, and Owen Thomas, with lyrics by Art Van Stolk '49, combine to form O Say Can You Si?—this year's Tech Show. The fourteen musical numbers have been orchestrated by veteran arranger Peter Bodge of the Boston Pops, and Ray Wilding-White '45.

The Technicians, under the management of Herb Sontag '50, will provide the background music, while a mixed chorus of twenty-five will sing "Steppin' Out," "Pancho-Pancho," and the fight song of the hour, "Beaver Beaver."

Among the principals, Joe Gottlieb and Andy Lang will give their rendition of "Back in Boston . . . Where the College Dames Hang Out." In a different vein, Nathalie Foss cautions Andy Lang with the beguine, "Go Slowly, Amigo," and Aileen Howell taunts the villainous Dennis Allegretti with her rumba specialty. An assortment of bodyguards (who are vaguely recognizable as the cops from last year's Frere Jaques) romp through the two numbers.

"The Lucky Night Ballet," as conceived by Tech's pianist Mike Koerner, has received the choreographic touch of Aileen Howell. This ballet, in the modern manner, depicts what happens when two misguided engineers attempt to fix the roulette wheels in the casino of Pancho-Pancho. The entire light-hearted production is under the direction of Bob Abelson.

Supersonic Flight Topic Of Pop. Sci. Lectures In 10-250

"Supersonic Flight" will be the title of the next Society of Arts Popular Science Lecture to be presented today, Saturday, and Sunday in Huntington Hall. Professor John R. Markham of the Department of Aeronautical Engineering will deliver the talks. The Sunday lecture, to be held at 4:00 p.m., will be open to the public.

Movies, slides, and models will be used to illustrate the lecture. Professor Markham expects to show pictures of wind tunnels, sonic and supersonic aircraft, and possibly the XS-1 and V-2. He will also demonstrate the propagation of sound waves and the formation of shock lines. Tickets may be obtained from Professor A. A. Ashdown's office.

Undergrad Scholarships Boosted Thirty Percent

For those who will be recipients of undergraduate scholarships for the academic year beginning next September, the recent boost in tuition will be partially compensated for by an increase of about thirty per cent in the amount of the awards, according to Dean Thomas P. Pitre. To illustrate, Dean Pitre mentioned, that under the new conditions, the recipient of a three hundred dollar scholarship would then be granted about four hundred dollars.

Same Requirements

However, the Institute plans to remain firm on its system of granting undergraduate scholarships. The prerequisites for obtaining scholarship aid are that a student show need for financial help and also that his yearly rating be in the upper fourth of his class.

Scholarship awards are always made on the annual rating basis. That is, a student's cumulative rating can be below that of the upper fourth of his class or below a 3.9. However, if he meets this rating of 3.9 or better the year before he is applying for the scholarship, he will be eligible for such an award.

Grants Increased

Last year the Institute awarded a total of five hundred undergraduate scholarships with an average of two hundred and fifty dollars per award. Scholarships granted by the Institute before the tuition increase ranged from one hundred to three hundred dollars, but beginning in the Fall term of '49, scholarships will range from one hundred to four hundred dollars. Full tuition scholarships awards are made, but these are made to freshmen under such grants as the William Barton Rogers Foundation.

JUDCOMM

Last week the Judicial Committee submitted a report covering its first year of operation and presented several proposals for changes in its constitution to the Institute Committee. Essentially, the Judicial Committee's purpose is to give the students themselves a voice in student discipline.

Historically speaking, the Judicial Committee was founded last spring after the Institute Committee found itself in difficulty when it attempted to handle a disciplinary problem. The problem arose out of what has come to be called The First Harvard Incident, a case of several rowdy Techman inflicting, or conspiring to inflict, some damage on Harvard property. Harvard authorities turned over the culprits to the Institute with a request that an appropriate punishment be given them, and Dean Baker, in an attempt to give the Institute's student government some autonomy, asked Institute Committee to investigate the matter and make recommendations.

Regrettably, the Committee acquitted itself somewhat less than nobly in dealing with this question. Investigations and hearings took several weeks, and friends of the accused, urging leniency, proposed punishments that would scarcely act as deterrents to further incidents. While some action was clearly needed, much talk was forthcoming, and meanwhile Harvard waited for word that the matter had been dealt with.

After the incident was closed Institute Committee realized that it could not efficiently consider disciplinary action if it had to act as a body; with this in mind, Judicial Committee was set up as a permanent sub-committee. The chairman and secretary of the committee were to be elected by the Institute Committee, while the three other members were to be appointed by the 5:15 Club, the Inter-Fraternity Conference, and the Dormitory Committee. When the next opportunity for the committee to act came, however, it was unable to do so.

This opportunity was supplied by the Second Harvard Incident, alternately known as Technology's Guy Fawkes Day or Battery Day. On this occasion, however, the local press had stirred up such a furor that immediate action was imperative. The Faculty Committee on Provisional Students and Discipline met but was unable to consult the Judicial Committee; for one thing, not all the living groups had appointed their representative, for another, it could only be done by a written request from the Dean or the President of the Institute Committee.

The major change proposed by the Judicial Committee would permit the committee to initiate action on an affirmative vote of four out of its five members. If adopted, this change will enable the committee to act with sufficient speed to make its findings meaningful. The committee's report also contains a short list of possible punishments recommended, none of which are applicable to severe cases. Probably the only effective measures against anything more than petty offenses will continue to be expulsion, suspension, or probation. The most valuable constructive work of the committee to date has been their compilation of all the rules of the various Institute bodies which will be published shortly. Certainly it is desirable to have as few rules as necessary, but any rules can only be fair and effective if they are made known to all.

TRANSIT

We regretfully accept the resignation of Edward A. Ort, '51, Treasurer of The Tech, who has been called home because of illness in his family. His post will be filled by members of the Treasury staff in rotation. Paul Gerhardt, '49, has been appointed Photography Editor to replace Robert H. Elliot, '50, who has resigned with a fine record of accomplishment.

Fraternity Findings

By JOHN THOMAS

We didn't go to the ATO Parisian Party last week, but one of our far-flung correspondents confirms that it was as French as we had predicted. One girl came as a French Fried Potato.

The We-Want-to-Prove-That-Tech-Is-Not-Hell Club has some sort of banner week coming up. There are no less than five, count 'em, five parties of some sort or another to go to this weekend. Column space is tight, so pardon us if we hit each one only rather lightly.

Rye & Ginger

On Friday comes the Phi Sigma Kappa Jolly Weaver Party. The Phi Sigs are expanding a little; this year they have the whole Campus Room for their guests. For those who haven't been there, it is on Huntington Avenue across from Symphony Hall and above the Showboat.

On Saturday night our party-jumping brethren had best carry a quick change kit. You can start off at the DU Carnival (and for our money, that's a good place to start) where the party will be informal and funny. The DU's will have their traditional Midway on the first floor, and Stan Harris on the second for those who want to shake the tan-bark out of their shoes. Be careful of the alcoves behind the canvas flat, second floor, front.

A short walk and a tux will take you from there to the Sigma Nu White Rose Formal at the Hotel Somerset. Social Chairman Jerry Champlin is bringing in Chappie Arnold's orchestra for the affair. This party begins at eight, by the way, so you can get in plenty of dancing with even the very-early-to-bed girls.

Mountain Boy Party

Then across the river the Theta Delta Chi's are meeting in dungarees and such for their Out House Orgy. Hal Reeves is playing for dancing, but for those who know the way down to the basement both Jackie's Dark and Light will flow. Incidentally, those Freudian monsters on the wall are the Theta Delt's idea of mountain boys.

Finally, down the street a ways, Delta Psi is holding a small bid dance for about fifty couples. Another part of the Hal Reeves organization is furnishing the music. If you can't find something to suit you in all this, transfer, bud, transfer!

Speaking of rain, we wish to note the passing of "Lake Technology," whose murky depths have graced the parking lot for time immemorial.

When Barbers Talk About Home Shaving-- THAT'S NEWS

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., MARCH 11

Remember when the barber treated you to the old fish-eye when you said you shaved at home? Not any more—our demon interviewer recently asked barbers what they recommended for shave-at-homes. 86% said "use a blade that's Hollow Ground like my razor." That means PAL Hollow Ground, the blade that's ground like a barber's razor, for keener, quicker "feather-touch" shaves. PAL still gives you 4 blades for 10¢, 10 for 25¢, 21 for 49¢ and 44 for 98¢—for Single and Double Edge razors. Try PAL—today. Your dealer stocks them.

What makes it worth having?

BY ITSELF, a Bell telephone is useless. What makes it so valuable to you is that it brings the world within easy speaking distance when connected to the Bell System network.

This network has billions of parts. All had to be designed and manufactured to work together for good telephone service.

To assure a dependable source of good equipment that will work together with all other parts of the nation-wide telephone network, Western Electric long ago was made the manufacturing unit of the Bell System.

As members of the Bell System, Western Electric people can work most closely with Bell research people who design equipment and Bell Telephone company people who operate it. Result: You get the most dependable, most valuable telephone service on earth.

An Adventure in Good Smoking

BEAVER BARKS

By Leo Sartori

What happened to the basketball team? This question has been asked around Tech lately. Prospects had seemed good last November, with only two lettermen lost from last year's successful team. Yet, now that the season is over, a look at the record discloses fourteen losses, and only three victories for the Engineers.

The easiest thing to do in a situation such as this is to blame the coach. It's all very simple. The coach had the material and he didn't come through with a winning team, so get rid of him and find someone who will win.

However, in this particular case we find it difficult to ascribe the troubles of the basketball team to Ted Heuchling. For one thing, Ted has done a lot for basketball at Tech; before he was officially appointed, he did the work of a coach while the official coach did nothing at all.

More important, it is hard to find much fault with Heuchling's coaching methods; he knows the game, knows how to teach it, runs a good practice session, and, in our opinion, uses the system which is best suited to Technology's peculiar situation. When a team is limited in practice time, it is almost impossible to use the type of intricate plays which require hour after hour of drilling. Consequently, a coach is almost forced into the type of game which emphasizes individual skill and shooting accuracy.

A more plausible explanation for the team's poor record is that the two men who graduated had been most of the team last year. Doug Watson had been the team's playmaker, while Bob Deutsch's set shots had won many a game; moreover, no outstanding players came up from the freshman team to replace these two.

Another fact which must not be overlooked is that at least five or six of the defeats which the team suffered were tight affairs which could easily have gone either way. Given an extra break or two against Stevens, Brown, (first game) Northeastern, Bowdoin, Devens, or New Hampshire, the team would have compiled a much more respectable record.

Williams College, last year's winner, is expected to retain the New England Championship. The Ephemen have almost their entire squad back from last year and are highly favored in the meet.

Fourteen men will represent MIT at the meet. Bob Pelletier, Frank Conlin, Garthe Coombs, Bob Edgar, and company will try to improve on Tech's seventh place finish of last year, while the frosh 400 yard relay team is entered in the freshman competition.

The fourteen schools competing in the Intercollegiate are as follows: (they are in the order that they finished in last year's meet): Williams, Springfield, Bowdoin, Brown, Connecticut, Amherst, MIT, Wesleyan, BU, U. of Mass., Trinity, Tufts and WPI.

Fuller Shift Backfires
As Defense Collapses

Boston University's powerful sextet rudely jolted Tech hopes of reaching the finals of the New England playoffs by whipping the Engineers, 13-1, last Tuesday evening at the Arena. It was the first time this season that the Beavers had been held to less than three goals in a game.

The Terriers blinked the light for the first time in the fifth minute of the first period, and before they had finished the score was 6-0 at the period pause. During the second stanza the Tech defense tightened slightly, with Jim Fuller pulled back to his normal spot at left defense, but B.U. came through while the Beaver squad was a man short for four more tallies.

Fuller Back to Defense

At about this time Coach Ben Martin decided that the score was getting a little out of hand, and during the third period Fuller spent all his time on defense; with Herb Voss in the nets for the Tech the Boston team scored three more, while the Engineers finally connected for their only goal when Jacobanis lit the light. Lea and Fuller then held down the defensive spots for the last ten minutes of the game to hold B.U. in check.

The major reason for the lopsided score was a combination of the team's inability to hit the net, and Martin's desperate, though ill-

N.S.A. Will Hold Two Day Institute Followed by Dance

Discussion of the President's Report on Higher Education will highlight the Institute of Human Relations to be held at Hayden Memorial Hall at Boston University this weekend. Donald J. Eberly, NSA Chairman, said recently that the price of the two-day Institute has been reduced to one dollar following an unexpected demand for tickets by students in the Boston area.

In addition to the program outlined in the last issue of The Tech, it has been announced that a dance will be held Saturday evening in Charlesgate Hall on Beacon Street for those who attend the Institute.

Registration is scheduled for Saturday morning from 9:00 until 11:00 at Hayden Hall on Commonwealth Avenue. Further information may be obtained in the NSA office in the basement of Walker Memorial.
